ELEMENTS, ATTRIBUTES, AND USER EXPERIENCE

- A The radial design of the splash pad invites easy access from any direction, encouraging children to laugh, jump, dance, play, and explore.
- B In addition to providing a stage for children to play, water jets and embedded lighting combine to create a central and aesthetically pleasing focal point for the park.
- C Silla chairs are arrayed radially in an inner ring to create a comfortable place for family members to sit together while remaining focused on small children. Children feel safe to explore and play because of the nearby proximity of parents and caregivers.
- D An outer ring of Mingle seating and Shade umbrellas create comfortable shaded gathering areas near the water feature for picnics and breaks from the sun, and can also provide a shaded resting place for parents and caregivers of older children.
- E Signal pedestrian lighting provides safe effective lighting for evening play.

ELEMENTS, ATTRIBUTES, AND USER EXPERIENCE (CONTINUED)

- F Loop bike racks are conveniently placed at several points along the perimeter. This increases accessibility of space and invites a broader audience by encouraging alternative transit options and providing secure bike storage.
- G Austin litters provide attractive options to conceal and recycle waste.
- H Surrounding landscaping softens hard surface elements in a natural setting.
