Parallel 42 Planning Guide

In Parallel 42, compatible, interchangeable modules elegantly form the building blocks for activating outdoor space. This adaptable system frames spaces, divides spaces, illuminates spaces, introduces greenery and sparks social interactions — formal and informal, impromptu and planned. It gives designers the freedom to approach any site as a blank canvas, creating bespoke settings that welcome a wide variety of postures, interactions and outdoor activities.

In its range of seating and planter modules, Parallel 42's possibilities are virtually limitless. Apply right-hand, left-hand, straight and wedge bench modules individually or in combination. Distribute them, cluster them, line them up or branch them out. Use terraced modules to comfortably welcome a wide range of postures and unique interactions — from sitting, leaning and working on a laptop, to perching, stretching out and putting your feet up. Incorporate planter modules to break up open areas, activate spaces with greenery, outline social gathering points, and establish semi-privacy outdoors. Customize installations with coined steel backs and center arms, elegant yet substantial and all coming together without visible fasteners. Add an Illumination and Power Kit on any of the seating modules to neatly incorporate 120V power, sought-after USB Type-C charging and the ability to illuminate the evening with the warm, welcoming glow of integrated LED lighting.

The following examples demonstrate just a few different ways in which Parallel 42 can be specified and the basics of how the modular components work together. This guide is by no means exhaustive, but rather a jumping off point intended to familiarize designers with the system and inspire the many new possibilities this innovative modular solution offers.
