Configure it Out

Landscape Forms has long pioneered the connected seating dining table category, and we're still innovating. Designed by Rodrigo Torres, Take-Out expands the connected seating concept with refined lines and impressive versatility. Light enough to be picked up, arranged and rearranged, Take-Out opens up new ways for people to connect in outdoor spaces—face-to-face or abreast, an intimate chat or a large group gathering.

For Every Situation, a Simple

A family of silhouettes—including singles, doubles and triples in standard height, wheelchair-accessible triples, tall, wedge and mini—can either stand alone or work together in myriad arrangements. Placed side-by-side, Take-Out can form a long run of seating and surface for group meals, meetings or brainstorming sessions. Arranged in a grid, Take-Out makes for a lively outdoor café atmosphere. Arranged face-to-face, Take-Out can form an ever-expandable communal picnic table, and color-matched connector brackets can be used to secure abutting units. One-sided tables are especially suited to maximize the usability of edge spaces or spaces abutting walls. An umbrella hole tabletop option provides shade and comfort, with semi-circular cutouts aligning to accommodate a standard umbrella when two units are placed face-to-face together.

Set the Mood

Take-Out is about bringing people together in ways that accurately reflect the character of the occasion. How we sit in relation to one another can have very different emotional connotations. Sitting side-by-side, we feel casual and relaxed, sharing a cozy moment as the world passes by in front of us. Sitting face-to-face, the focus is more deeply on one another, engaging in intimate conversation or collaborating on a shared project. The wedge offers a unique posture that balances shared outward views with a natural turn toward a companion, and its form opens the door to new geometric possibilities—from faceted arcs to radial arrangements and fully enclosed hexagonal hubs. Take-Out shines in all these contexts and more as it easily scales with the size and energy of the group.

Scaled for Smaller Learners

The mini brings Take-Out's durability, adaptability and approachable character to younger users. Sized for K-5 learning environments, it supports outdoor classrooms, schoolyards and family-friendly spaces where children gather, socialize, imagine and explore. The Take-Out mini encourages freedom of movement, creativity and connection—inviting kids to enjoy time outdoors in environments made just for them.

Creating Comfortable, Lasting Connections

Take-Out's minimalist form is designed to maximize its function, comfort and accessibility. Gently curved edges eliminate pressure points on the elbows and behind the knees while also lending Take-Out a warm, welcoming gesture. Easy entry from either side or from behind means no more awkward climbing over tablemates. With sheet metal tops and extruded aluminum verticals, Take-Out's design and component materials are simple, concise and enduring. Powdercoated surfaces withstand the elements and provide lively pops of color. The tall includes a powdercoated footrest for elevated comfort, and on all Take-Out units, durable nylon glides on the contact points offer enhanced mobility and longevity when rearranging.
